

POETRY.

FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING.

SUNG BY PAREPA.

The dew lay glittering on the grass, A mist lay on the brook;
At the earliest beam of the golden sun,
The swallow her nest forsook.
The snowy bloom of the hawthorn tree Lay thickly the ground adorning, The birds were singing in every bush,
At five o'clock in the morning.

And Bessie, the milkmaid, merrily sang, For the meadows were fresh and fair;
The breeze of the morning kissed her brow,
And played with her nut-brown hair;
But oft she turned and looked around,
As if the silence scorning;
'Twas time for the mower to whet his scythe,
At five o'clock in the morning.

And over the meadows the mowers came,
And merry their voices rang;
And one among them wended his way To where the milkmaid sang;
And as he lingered by her side, Despite his comrade's warning,
The old story was told again,
At five o'clock in the morning.

LIFE TOO SHORT FOR STRIFE.— Charles Dickens relates the following of Douglas Jerrold:

Of his generosity I had a proof within these two or three years which it sadden me to think of it now: There had been estrangements between us —not on any personal subject, and not involving angry words—and a good many months had passed without my ever seeing him in the street, when it fell out we dined, each with his own separate party, in the Strangers' room of the club. Our chairs were almost back to back, and I took mine after he was seated and at dinner (I am sorry to remember,) and did not look that way. Before we had long had sat, openly wheeled his chair round, stretched out both hands in an engaging manner, and said aloud, with a bright and loving face that I can see as I write to you, "Let us be friends again. A life is not long enough for this."

Jerrold was not a Christian, but his conduct in this case was worthy of a Christian character. On a dying bed how insignificant will appear many things about which we contend in bitterness and wrath! Life is too short, its inevitable sorrows so many, its responsibilities so vast and solemn, that there is indeed no time to spare in abusing and maligning one another.
Let not the sun go down in your wrath. Never close your eyes to sleep with your heart angry towards your brother and fellow-sufferer. See him and be reconciled if you can. If you cannot see him write to him. If he is a true man and a Christian, he will listen. If he is not you will have done right and your soul will be bright with the sunshine of Heaven.

PRECIOUS STONES.—A very common mode of fraud practiced on inexperienced persons in cut stones, is the "doublet," or "semi-stone." In this case the top of the stone is genuine, and the under-part glass, joined together artistically with cement. Sometimes, for instance the top is sapphire and the under part of a gem of less value, such as a garnet. When set, these stones are difficult to detect, and frequently deceive the most experienced. When the under part is of glass, however, the application of the file to the under, as well as the upper surface, will, of course, at once show the imposition. Set stones which are set with a back are generally of a pale color or small lustre, painted or set with colored foil, to enhance their beauty. Sometimes, however stones which are set upon, or to use the technical term, "azure," have the interior of the setting enamelled or painted, to throw a tint of color into the gem; or, in the case of the diamond, have the inside of polished silver, to correct a yellowish tinge. In all these cases, to be forewarned is to be forearmed, and a careful examination will prevent any one being deceived by these means. "Doublets" are frequently sold by the Cingalese at Colombo, to Europeans, and to the passengers by the Peninsula and Oriental steamers; sometimes blue glass cut into facets, and there from Birmingham and Paris, are palmed off for the real stones.—Harry Emanuel.

A Schoolmaster, after giving one of the scholars a sound drubbing for speaking bad grammar, sent him to the other end of the room to inform another boy that he wished to speak with him, and at the same time promising to repeat the dose if he spoke ungrammatically. The youngster, quite satisfied with what he had got, determined to be exact, and thus addressed his fellow pupil: "There is a common substantive, of the masculine gender, singular number, nominative case, and in an angry mood, that sits perched upon the eminence at the other side of the room, and wishes to articulate a few sentences to you in the present tense."

An illustrated Catalogue, containing full description of style, and testimonials of the most eminent musicians, as to the superior excellence of our instruments—will be sent free to any address.

THE AUTOMATIC ORGAN.
In presenting the Automatic Organ, we boldly announce the greatest triumph in musical instruments of the age. During the past half century, the French and Germans have manufactured reed instruments, with double bellows, and two pedals for the feet to operate; but the want of the reversed or exhaustion bellows, (which is the only bellows used in our instruments,) made it impossible for them to produce the mellow, rich and mellow tone for which our instruments are celebrated.

Another objection to this method of blowing was, that both feet being occupied, no opportunity was offered for the management of the swell. Within the past two years, instruments constructed on this European plan of "double bellows" have been manufactured in this country, and to counteract this difficulty (want of a swell) a lever has been projected from the centre of the instrument, to act on the swell, and operated by the knee. The inconvenience and contortion necessary to effect this object, are disagreeable enough to a gentleman, but to a lady the use of such an ap-pendage is nearly impossible.

Our Automatic device obviates this difficulty entirely, the simple act of blowing with more or less force giving the desired increase or decrease in the volume of the tone. We predict for this invention a brilliant future.

MELODEON AND SCHOOL ORGAN For seventeen years the superior excellence of our Melodeons has not been questioned, and for two years past the enormous demand has made it impossible for us to meet our orders promptly. With our increased facilities we feel warranted in assuring our patrons that their orders will be promptly met, and solicit a continuance of their patronage.

CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.
All of our instruments have upon the name boards, in full, "GEO. A. PRINCE & CO." When a dealer represents any other instrument as "the same as ours," it is usually a mere attempt to sell an inferior instrument, on which he can make a larger profit.
